

01. Attendance

1.1 Course registers

1.1.1 Purpose and ownership. This procedure governs course registers within the attendance section. The Academic Office is responsible for administration, communication and the final record. It applies to registered undergraduate students for the fictional academic year 2026-27.

1.1.2 Governing requirement. Students must maintain at least 85 percent attendance in each registered course to meet the ordinary examination attendance requirement. Attendance is classes attended divided by classes actually held, multiplied by 100. Cancelled classes are excluded from the denominator.

1.1.3 Application and evidence. A request concerning course registers must identify the student, programme, semester, relevant course or facility, and the action requested. Attach the applicable register entry, notice, receipt or supporting document. The Academic Office records a reference number and acknowledges receipt within two working days.

1.1.4 Review and decision. The designated officer checks the evidence against the governing requirement, records missing information and gives the applicant an opportunity to correct a factual error. A student at 80 percent does not meet the ordinary threshold. A student at 90 percent meets it; assessment and registration conditions still apply. The ordinary target for a complete administrative request is ten working days; an explicit deadline elsewhere in this section takes precedence.

1.1.5 Communication and appeal. Communicate the decision in writing with reasons and the relevant clause reference. An applicant may request review of a factual or procedural error within three working days. A reviewer who did not make the original decision considers the record; a pending review does not automatically suspend the original requirement.

1.1.6 Records and boundaries. Retain the request, supporting evidence, decision, acknowledgement and review outcome in the authorised record system. Restrict access to staff with a legitimate role. This procedure for course registers does not waive attendance, assessment, safety or registration requirements imposed by another applicable section.

1.2 Laboratory sessions

1.2.1 Purpose and ownership. This procedure governs laboratory sessions within the attendance section. The Academic Office is responsible for administration, communication and the final record. It applies to registered undergraduate students for the fictional academic year 2026-27.

1.2.2 Governing requirement. Students must maintain at least 85 percent attendance in each registered course to meet the ordinary examination attendance requirement. Attendance is classes attended divided by classes actually held, multiplied by 100. Cancelled classes are excluded from the denominator.

1.2.3 Application and evidence. A request concerning laboratory sessions must identify the student, programme, semester, relevant course or facility, and the action requested. Attach the applicable register entry, notice, receipt or supporting document. The Academic Office records a reference number and acknowledges receipt within two working days.

1.2.4 Review and decision. The designated officer checks the evidence against the governing requirement, records missing information and gives the applicant an opportunity to correct a factual error. A student at 80 percent does not meet the ordinary threshold. A student at 90 percent meets it; assessment and registration conditions still apply. The ordinary target for a complete administrative request is ten working days; an explicit deadline elsewhere in this section takes precedence.

1.2.5 Communication and appeal. Communicate the decision in writing with reasons and the relevant clause reference. An applicant may request review of a factual or procedural error within three working days. A reviewer who did not make the original decision considers the record; a pending review does not automatically suspend the original requirement.

1.2.6 Records and boundaries. Retain the request, supporting evidence, decision, acknowledgement and review outcome in the authorised record system. Restrict access to staff with a legitimate role. This procedure for laboratory sessions does not waive attendance, assessment, safety or registration requirements imposed by another applicable section.

02. Examinations

2.8 Absence reporting

2.8.1 Purpose and ownership. This procedure governs absence reporting within the examinations section. The Examination Office is responsible for administration, communication and the final record. It applies to registered undergraduate students for the fictional academic year 2026-27.

2.8.2 Governing requirement. Examination registration requires an active course registration, approved attendance eligibility and satisfaction of internal-assessment requirements. Students must carry the issued admit card and college identity card. Entry closes thirty minutes after the published start time.

2.8.3 Application and evidence. A request concerning absence reporting must identify the student, programme, semester, relevant course or facility, and the action requested. Attach the applicable register entry, notice, receipt or supporting document. The Examination Office records a reference number and acknowledges receipt within two working days.

2.8.4 Review and decision. The designated officer checks the evidence against the governing requirement, records missing information and gives the applicant an opportunity to correct a factual error. Unauthorised notes and electronic communication devices are prohibited. A suspected breach must be documented and referred for a fair hearing. The ordinary target for a complete administrative request is ten working days; an explicit deadline elsewhere in this section takes precedence.

2.8.5 Communication and appeal. Communicate the decision in writing with reasons and the relevant clause reference. An applicant may request review of a factual or procedural error within three working days. A reviewer who did not make the original decision considers the record; a pending review does not automatically suspend the original requirement.

2.8.6 Records and boundaries. Retain the request, supporting evidence, decision, acknowledgement and review outcome in the authorised record system. Restrict access to staff with a legitimate role. This procedure for absence reporting does not waive attendance, assessment, safety or registration requirements imposed by another applicable section.

03. Internal Assessment

3.1 Assessment plans

3.1.1 Purpose and ownership. This procedure governs assessment plans within the internal assessment section. The Course Coordinator is responsible for administration, communication and the final record. It applies to registered undergraduate students for the fictional academic year 2026-27.

3.1.2 Governing requirement. Continuous internal assessment totals 40 marks: class tests contribute 20, assignments contribute 10 and laboratory or seminar work contributes 10. Students must earn at least 16 marks out of 40. Attendance eligibility alone does not establish marks eligibility.

3.1.3 Application and evidence. A request concerning assessment plans must identify the student, programme, semester, relevant course or facility, and the action requested. Attach the applicable register entry, notice, receipt or supporting document. The Course Coordinator records a reference number and acknowledges receipt within two working days.

3.1.4 Review and decision. The designated officer checks the evidence against the governing requirement, records missing information and gives the applicant an opportunity to correct a factual error. An 18-out-of-40 score satisfies the marks minimum; a 12-out-of-40 score does not. Approved marks are recorded without rounding up a failing score. The ordinary target for a complete administrative request is ten working days; an explicit deadline elsewhere in this section takes precedence.

3.1.5 Communication and appeal. Communicate the decision in writing with reasons and the relevant clause reference. An applicant may request review of a factual or procedural error within three working days. A reviewer who did not make the original decision considers the record; a pending review does not automatically suspend the original requirement.

3.1.6 Records and boundaries. Retain the request, supporting evidence, decision, acknowledgement and review outcome in the authorised record system. Restrict access to staff with a legitimate role. 04. Condonation

4.1 Scope of relief

4.1.1 Purpose and ownership. This procedure governs scope of relief within the condonation section. The Dean Academic is responsible for administration, communication and the final record. It applies to registered undergraduate students for the fictional academic year 2026-27.

4.1.2 Governing requirement. Medical condonation may be considered when course attendance is at least 80 percent but below the ordinary 85 percent requirement. A request requires a medical certificate, course-wise absence statement and faculty adviser recommendation, submitted within five calendar days of return.

4.1.3 Application and evidence. A request concerning scope of relief must identify the student, programme, semester, relevant course or facility, and the action requested. Attach the applicable register entry, notice, receipt or supporting document. The Dean Academic records a reference number and acknowledges receipt within two working days.

4.1.4 Review and decision. The designated officer checks the evidence against the governing requirement, records missing information and gives the applicant an opportunity to correct a factual error. Only a recorded approval by the Dean Academic grants condonation. Filing a request does not confer eligibility; attendance below 80 percent is outside this scheme. The ordinary target for a complete administrative request is ten working days; an explicit deadline elsewhere in this section takes precedence.

4.1.5 Communication and appeal. Communicate the decision in writing with reasons and the relevant clause reference. An applicant may request review of a factual or procedural error within three working days. A reviewer who did not make the original decision considers the record; a pending review does not automatically suspend the original requirement.

4.1.6 Records and boundaries. Retain the request, supporting evidence, decision, acknowledgement and review outcome in the authorised record system. Restrict access to staff with a legitimate role. 4.4 Submission deadlines

4.4.1 Purpose and ownership. This procedure governs submission deadlines within the condonation section. The Dean Academic is responsible for administration, communication and the final record. It applies to registered undergraduate students for the fictional academic year 2026-27.

4.4.2 Governing requirement. Medical condonation may be considered when course attendance is at least 80 percent but below the ordinary 85 percent requirement. A request requires a medical certificate, course-wise absence statement and faculty adviser recommendation, submitted within five calendar days of return.

4.4.3 Application and evidence. A request concerning submission deadlines must identify the student, programme, semester, relevant course or facility, and the action requested. Attach the applicable register entry, notice, receipt or supporting document. The Dean Academic records a reference number and acknowledges receipt within two working days.

4.4.4 Review and decision. The designated officer checks the evidence against the governing requirement, records missing information and gives the applicant an opportunity to correct a factual error. Only a recorded approval by the Dean Academic grants condonation. Filing a request does not confer eligibility; attendance below 80 percent is outside this scheme. The ordinary target for a complete administrative request is ten working days; an explicit deadline elsewhere in this section takes precedence.

4.4.5 Communication and appeal. Communicate the decision in writing with reasons and the relevant clause reference. An applicant may request review of a factual or procedural error within three working days. A reviewer who did not make the original decision considers the record; a pending review does not automatically suspend the original requirement.

4.4.6 Records and boundaries. Retain the request, supporting evidence, decision, acknowledgement and review outcome in the authorised record system. Restrict access to staff with a legitimate role. This procedure for submission deadlines does not waive attendance, assessment, safety or registration requirements imposed by another applicable section.

5.10.3 Application and evidence. A request concerning checkout must identify the student, programme, semester, relevant course or facility, and the action requested. Attach the applicable register entry, notice, receipt or supporting document. The Chief Warden records a reference number and acknowledges receipt within two working days.

5.10.4 Review and decision. The designated officer checks the evidence against the governing requirement, records missing information and gives the applicant an opportunity to correct a factual error. Emergency exits must remain clear. Cooking appliances are permitted only in designated facilities and electrical faults must be reported immediately. The ordinary target for a complete administrative request is ten working days; an explicit deadline elsewhere in this section takes precedence.

5.10.5 Communication and appeal. Communicate the decision in writing with reasons and the relevant clause reference. An applicant may request review of a factual or procedural error within three working days. A reviewer who did not make the original decision considers the record; a pending review does not automatically suspend the original requirement.

5.10.6 Records and boundaries. Retain the request, supporting evidence, decision, acknowledgement and review outcome in the authorised record system. Restrict access to staff with a legitimate role. This procedure for checkout does not waive attendance, assessment, safety or registration requirements imposed by another applicable section.

7.7.1 Purpose and ownership. This procedure governs refund applications within the fees section. The Accounts Office is responsible for administration, communication and the final record. It applies to registered undergraduate students for the fictional academic year 2026-27.

7.7.2 Governing requirement. Semester tuition is payable by the date on the approved fee notice. Payment must use an official channel and the receipt must identify the student and semester. An instalment request must arrive at least seven working days before the due date. Approval is recorded by the finance officer and does not waive the total fee.

7.7.3 Application and evidence. A request concerning refund applications must identify the student, programme, semester, relevant course or facility, and the action requested. Attach the applicable register entry, notice, receipt or supporting document. The Accounts Office records a reference number and acknowledges receipt within two working days.

7.7.4 Review and decision. The designated officer checks the evidence against the governing requirement, records missing information and gives the applicant an opportunity to correct a factual error. Refund requests require the original receipt and withdrawal acknowledgement. The applicable published refund schedule determines the amount; staff must not invent a rate. The ordinary target for a complete administrative request is ten working days; an explicit deadline elsewhere in this section takes precedence.

7.7.5 Communication and appeal. Communicate the decision in writing with reasons and the relevant clause reference. An applicant may request review of a factual or procedural error within three working days. A reviewer who did not make the original decision considers the record; a pending review does not automatically suspend the original requirement.

7.7.6 Records and boundaries. Retain the request, supporting evidence, decision, acknowledgement and review outcome in the authorised record system. Restrict access to staff with a legitimate role. This procedure for refund applications does not waive attendance, assessment, safety or registration requirements imposed by another applicable section.

9.4 Network use

9.4.1 Purpose and ownership. This procedure governs network use within the it and laboratory section. The Technical Services Office is responsible for administration, communication and the final record. It applies to registered undergraduate students for the fictional academic year 2026-27.

9.4.2 Governing requirement. Accounts are personal and passwords must not be shared. Access to institutional systems must be limited to authorised learning, teaching or administrative work. Laboratory users must complete the safety induction, wear specified protective equipment and follow supervisor instructions before operating machinery.

9.4.3 Application and evidence. A request concerning network use must identify the student, programme, semester, relevant course or facility, and the action requested. Attach the applicable register entry, notice, receipt or supporting document. The Technical Services Office records a reference number and acknowledges receipt within two working days.

9.4.4 Review and decision. The designated officer checks the evidence against the governing requirement, records missing information and gives the applicant an opportunity to correct a factual error. Report a spill, injury, exposed credential or suspected compromise immediately. Preserve relevant records and avoid actions that would destroy evidence. The ordinary target for a complete administrative request is ten working days; an explicit deadline elsewhere in this section takes precedence.

9.4.5 Communication and appeal. Communicate the decision in writing with reasons and the relevant clause reference. An applicant may request review of a factual or procedural error within three working days. A reviewer who did not make the original decision considers the record; a pending review does not automatically suspend the original requirement.

10.10.2 Governing requirement. Changes to course registration require approval by the adviser and department before the published add-drop deadline. Students must retain the acknowledgement. Research involving human participants requires ethics approval before recruitment. Participation must be voluntary and data access must follow the approved protocol.

10.10.3 Application and evidence. A request concerning graduation clearance must identify the student, programme, semester, relevant course or facility, and the action requested. Attach the applicable register entry, notice, receipt or supporting document. The Registrar records a reference number and acknowledges receipt within two working days.

10.10.4 Review and decision. The designated officer checks the evidence against the governing requirement, records missing information and gives the applicant an opportunity to correct a factual error. Reasonable academic accommodations are coordinated confidentially. Approved adjustments change the access arrangement, while the stated learning outcomes remain applicable. The ordinary target for a complete administrative request is ten working days; an explicit deadline elsewhere in this section takes precedence.

10.10.5 Communication and appeal. Communicate the decision in writing with reasons and the relevant clause reference. An applicant may request review of a factual or procedural error within three working days. A reviewer who did not make the original decision considers the record; a pending review does not automatically suspend the original requirement.

10.10.6 Records and boundaries. Retain the request, supporting evidence, decision, acknowledgement and review outcome in the authorised record system. Restrict access to staff with a legitimate role. This procedure for graduation clearance does not waive attendance, assessment, safety or registration requirements imposed by another applicable section.
